

TLC Whole Life Natural Dog Food vs. Foods sold at Veterinary Clinics

TLC Whole Life Natural Dog Food compares very well against the commonly sold dog food brands sold at many veterinary clinics.

For example, many of the listed foods found at clinics include grains as their first or second ingredient. TLC, on the other hand is over 75% meat based, with lamb and chicken as our top ingredients. Unlike many of the listed foods, TLC includes both probiotics (beneficial bacteria) and prebiotics for digestive health, along with Glucosamine and Chondroitin for skeletal and joint health.

We recommend bringing this comparison chart with you to your next veterinary appointment as a useful tool to compare TLC against food sold at the clinic.
